Ghazal about Love and Faithfulness

Azerli is narrating one of his own ghazals. Ghazal is a poetic form, where each line has the same meter. Ghazals consist of rhyming couplets and a refrain. This poetic form spread to South Asia in the 12th century and is still popular in many languages.

This poem is about love and faithfulness. The poet talks about his love and that he won't be tempted to be unfaithful because he is not scared of love and commitment.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use everyday. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
