

Love of Music in Jordan

Levantine Arabic transcript:

of هديل: في الأردن جزء من الحياه. يعني ممكن الواحد يكون ماشي بالشارع ويسمع مية الف " kinds " أغاني مصريه, اغاني هيك شبابيه مثلا "most of the time" أغاني. الناس بيستمعوا " kinds " بس مش معناتو بتسمع هالأغاني, في ناس بحبو كيف ال يعني نانسي عجرم أو إليسا أو عمر دياب. "more " وبحبو أم كلثوم أو عبد الحليم حافظ. وكمان في ناس بحبو يكونوا "tradition" " hip hop " يعني مثلا أغاني " westerners and they like to go with the trends " " أو..بس " "rock" " most people love music in Jordan and you can tell just by their phones. They display with their ring tones. ما بخافوا.

English translation:

Hadeel: In Jordan, music is a part of life. Someone may be walking down the street and listen to a hundred thousand kinds of songs. People most of the time listen to Egyptian songs, songs popular among young people for example Nancy Ajram, Elissa and Omar Diab. But that doesn't mean that all people listen to these songs. Some people like to keep there traditions and like Umm Kalthoum or Abdelhaliim Hafeth. Also, there are people who like to be more western and they like to go with the trends. For example, they like hip hop or rock songs. But, most people love music in Jordan and you can tell just by there phones. They display with there ring tones. They aren't afraid.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use everyday. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.