طرابلس: الجزء الثاني.

ساره:

لمن بتون يجوا السياح أكيد دايما بدهم يشوفوا العاصمة، ما في مجال. طرابلس عندو ميزه خاصه فيها هالمدينه أنها صغيره، وبطل على البحر، وبنفس الوقت في الواحد يكون فيها في الجبل، جبالها كتير حلوين، جبال الشمال، أكيد المأكولات طيبه، شعب مضياف، بشكل عام. هلا أكيد كل مدينه وكل منطقه بلبنان إلهاميزتها، إلهام الأثار فيها، إلهام قصتها، بالنسبة كقصة تاريخيه يعني.

English translation:

Sara: When tourists come, of course they want to see the capital. There's no other way. Tripoli has a very particular feel. The city is small and overlooks the ocean and at the same time you can visit its mountains. The mountains are very nice, the northern mountains. The food is good; the people are generous, in general. Now, of course, every city or region in Lebanon has its feel: its own artifacts, its own story, its own history.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use everyday. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
