English translation:

Y: The problem of education. Education should be given great importance. This is because, if the country doesn't explore its human resources, we would never go forward. These resources are the new generation. This generation – these young children should be given all the opportunities to go to school. This is a big problem in the countryside. Although there are schools in the countryside... but there are places that don't have schools and the children cannot go to school. A lot of effort needs to be put in by the government and the ministry of education to reach the mountainous areas. There are places that one cannot reach by car. And so the children there cannot go to school. This is the problem that Morocco has: the problem of education, and this problem needs a lot of attention and management, especially in the primary and secondary levels of education.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use every day. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants.
