English transaltion:

Woman: I'm putting it on record. I'm on the braids... So, we are filming Arame getting her hair braided.

Arame: This is Codou, this is Marieme; they are braiding my hair today.

Woman: Codou and Marieme are braiding her hair. Marieme is very pretty; Codou also looks very pretty. So Codou, tell us what you think about the braids.

Codou: Ah, no.

Woman: Just say something, don't be shy... Ah, they say they don't want to speak. You are the one getting the braids, so talk about them.

Arame: How many people's hair can you braid per day, Codou?

Codou: Well, it depends on the customers.

Arame: How many people's hair can you braid with extensions like these per day?

Codou: Well, like these, we can braid two people in the day.

Arame: Two people sit to braid one person?

Arame : No. If it is one person braiding, she can braid two people in a day.

Arame: Now, are the other customers like me, do they have natural hair, or is their hair different?

Codou: No, it's not like this. They relax it until it gets perfectly straight.

Arame: They relax it until it gets perfectly straight. Which is harder to braid, hair that is relaxed or hair that is natural hair?

Codou: Hair that is relaxed is faster to braid. It is easier to braid.

Arame: However, is relaxer good for your hair?

Codou: Well, it depends. If it is too much, it damages your hair. But, if you do it every three months, for example, it might not damage your hair.

Arame: Do a lot of people in Senegal have relaxed hair?

Codou: Oh yes! The majority. It's very rare to see someone with natural hair.

Arame: Now, at what age did you start relaxing your hair?

Codou: I don't know exactly, but I know I get it done very frequently.

Arame: Thank you.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website.
