Alim: At home the weather is the hardship that makes a person decides to move to another region and change one's place. You decide to move to another place so that you can start another life in that region, thinking that maybe life there will be different from the one here at home. So, a person decides to move away from home, saying he is going to a certain place for a change in the weather. That was what made us move away from home and come here to look for work.
