Alimu: Kuhusu mambo ya biasharas, biashara kule nyumbani tulikuwa tunapendelea ni biashara kama, biashara ya mafuta, biashara ya karanga. Kwahiyo biashara ya mafuta tumeifanya kwa muda mrefu kupeleka kama mikoa mwingine, naenda kufanya biashara labda unaweza kubadilisha, ukasema labda nipeleke makoa fulani labda naweza kupata chochote. Kwahiyo tumepeleka huko kwa muda mrefu sana na hatukuona mafaniko yake hadi kufikia hatua ngoja tukajaribishe mkoa wa Dar-es-salaam labda mambo yanaweza yakawa mazuri. Ndivyo biashara ilivyokuwa.

English translation:

Alim: As for the business we had at home, we liked having different businesses, such as selling oil, or selling groundnuts. So we sold oil for a long time, transported oil to another region. Sometimes you change where you do business and go to another place, hoping for something better. So, we transported oil to those regions for a long time without success, until we decided to go to Dar-es-Salaam, hoping that things would be better there. That's the kind of business we had.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use everyday. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
