Woman: Now we are finished with tea and we will clean the set. And since no new guests have come, we can clean the set. But if someone comes, we would make tea all over again. This is our Saharawi culture and this is what I was taught when growing up... Now, we clean the cups... and then dry them, but we dry the tray first and then we dry the cups and put them on it... This is the container... All the containers are placed here as well... And this is the water pot... All of them should be cleaned before being put back on the tray... Now we are done with tea and can put the tea set away.
