

Village School to Catholic Boarding School

Shona transcript:

Kubva.. Ndakaita... Ndakaenda kuchikoro kubva primary education yangu pachikoro chiri muraini medu imomo muvillage medu chinonzi Rupepwe Primary School. Kubva muna 1986 kusvika muna 1992 ndichiita grade seveni yangu. Aah, chikoro chino, chandingati mmm chiri basic papa palevel yekudzidza kunowanikwa ipapo. Eeeh, taka, madzidziro acho anga ari eku kusheya mabhuku dzimwe nguva kusheya maclassroom kuti vamwe vombobuda vamwe vodzidzirawo imomo asi maticha vaivapo zvavo. Eee ndokuzobva ipapo pandakapedza grade seven yangu muna 1992. Eee vabereki vangu vakaita pfuyngwa yekundiendesa kuboarding school. Saka paSecondary education ndakazoitira kwaChirumhanzu kwakareko kunonzi kuHoly Cross. Imission school yechechi yeRoma.

English translation:

Since... I did... I did my primary education at a school in our neighborhood, in our village, called Rupepwe Primary School from 1986 until I did my grade seven in 1992. About the school I can say... mmm... it is basic, in terms of the education that it offers. We shared books and classrooms, others would go out and we would then get in to use the classrooms. But teachers were there. I left the school in 1992 after I completed my grade seven. My parents decided to send me to a boarding school. So I did my Secondary in Chirumhanzu at a school called Holy Cross. It is a mission school, owned by the Roman Catholic Church.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use every day. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.