English translation:

From then I came into this town that we call Gweru. That is where I started working. I started working in the construction, um, construction industry. From then we started dealing with flowers, garden furniture, flower pots, and many other garden essentials. We taught each other mowing, um, using lawn mowers and then I joined others who were into electricals. Learning to repair electrical gargets at home, for example kettles may have dysfunctional elements. We repair those. We can replace the elements with new ones. We also taught ourselves to deal with stoves and recoil.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use every day. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
