

Supporting Your Team

English translation:

I remember singing as one of the most popular ways of supporting sport activities. Sports were supported a lot. My school was the only boarding school in the area. The school had the opportunity to attract the best and brightest in academics, thus it was assumed that the school would also get the best athletes. So the expectation was that my school would be the champion, so my team had lots of pressure to win. If the team does not win in a tournament, there would be sadness at school. Therefore, people were enthusiastic about supporting sport. Singing, whistling, and applauding were some of the ways to support but singing was the most common way of expressing support.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use every day. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
