

Leaving for Boarding School

English translation:

I did Form one to four at Holy Cross. It was a big step for me to leave where I grew up (in the village) and go to boarding school. As I remember, I am probably the second or third person from my village that had gone to boarding school, so it was a pretty big deal. It was a challenge because it was my first time away from home. During the first term, it was a challenge because everything was new, but I was young and within a short time, I was used to the environment and had made friends. I would say I had such a powerful experience compared to the experiences I had and who I was when I finished primary education.

About CultureTalk: CultureTalk is produced by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages and housed on the LangMedia Website. The project provides students of language and culture with samples of people talking about their lives in the languages they use every day. The participants in CultureTalk interviews and discussions are of many different ages and walks of life. They are free to express themselves as they wish. The ideas and opinions presented here are those of the participants. Inclusion in CultureTalk does not represent endorsement of these ideas or opinions by the Five College Center for the Study of World Languages, Five Colleges, Incorporated, or any of its member institutions: Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
